

Governor cautions Ohio on the verge of recession

Gov. Kasich addressed the House on Tuesday and stated that Ohio is "on the verge of recession." State tax collections are $259 million (2.8 percent) short of projections for the first five months of the state fiscal year (July through November). Gov. Kasich also cautioned that there would not be a lot of growth in any state programs as the administration prepared the two-year budget.